The mission of Northwestern Health Sciences University is to advance and promote natural approaches to health through education, research, clinical services and community involvement.
Like most students, you arrived at Northwestern with a dream: to learn; to lead; to help others; to succeed. Your hard work has paid off. The skills you learned here form the building blocks of your career. You are on your way to realizing your dream of being a health care provider.

As you reflect on this achievement in the years to come, I hope you’ll look upon your time at Northwestern and the experiences shared here as some of the most rewarding of your life. The people you met along the way. The friends you made. The satisfaction you realized in learning your profession. All of these elements combine to create memories you will never forget.

At Northwestern, we are honored to have played a part in making your dream a reality. Seeing you reach your dream is what we live for at Northwestern! We are here to support you every step of the way as you take the next leap forward in your career.

As you prepare for the next step, remember that you have everything you need to be successful. You earned your degree and we are confident that your biggest dreams are in reach with a little hard work and the belief that the future holds limitless possibilities.

Congratulations and best wishes,

Mark T. Zeigler, D.C.

The College of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine at NWHSU offers two Master’s Degree programs accredited by the Accreditation Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine: a Master’s degree in Acupuncture; and a Master’s degree in Oriental Medicine which in addition to acupuncture includes the study of Chinese herbology. Both of our programs emphasize the unified understanding of the mind, body and spirit inherent in traditional Chinese medicine. Our curriculum is delivered by a group of outstanding multi-national faculty committed to academic and professional excellence and to teaching the extensive body of knowledge and skills necessary for safe and effective practice in today’s multidisciplinary and integrated healthcare environments. We pride ourselves on the national and international relationships we have built throughout the medical and educational communities allowing many of our students the opportunities for diverse educational experiences, as well as providing employment options for many of our graduates. We continue to strive to provide the best possible education to our students, ultimately benefiting the profession and our patients.

This has been an exciting year of progress for the School of Massage Therapy. Perhaps the most notable achievement is the creation and launch of a new degree offering in massage therapy. Students in the School of Massage Therapy can now earn an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Massage Therapy. Five new general education courses give students a broad college education experience.

This year has also seen an expansion of our already impressive list of integrative clinical experiences available to School of Massage Therapy students. Students now have the amazing opportunity to travel to Costa Rica and participate in La Clinica de la Mariposa. Even more exciting is the fact that the Massage Therapy Foundation approved a grant for $4800 to subsidize the cost of student travel. A new clinical education agreement has been signed with the Mayo Clinic and exciting new integrative clinical model is being developed in the DeRusha Clinic which partners massage therapy and chiropractic students in the treatment of challenging cases.

The School of Massage Therapy continues to set the mark for quality education in the state and beyond. As we look to the future of the profession, Northwestern is committed to promoting the highest standards in education and practice.

COLLEGE OF CHIROPRACTIC

We were honored to graduate 174 Doctors of Chiropractic during this past year, 102 in November and 72 in April. It is my hope that these doctors are able to combine their quality training and diverse experiences to provide exceptional care to their patients.

In addition to having fun, Northwestern students had numerous opportunities to participate in service activities. Student interns provided care in underserved areas at our Pillsbury House and Salvation Army-Harbor Lights clinics. In June, we sent our largest contingent to date to La Clinica de la Mariposa with eight chiropractic and two massage therapy students making the trek to serve in Costa Rica. Nearly 200 students, faculty, staff, and administrators joined together on Service and Appreciation day, providing 700 collective hours of volunteer service to our community. Students also contributed to their profession by lobbying at the national and state levels. These activities provide our students with the knowledge and skills they need to be active in their profession.

We are proud of the students at Northwestern – I am inspired by their spirit and integrity and their commitment to this profession. I am thankful to be a part of their educational and professional experiences and I look forward to the year ahead.
