Memorandum of Understanding

Northwestern Health Sciences University has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Bloomington Police Department to assist with investigation of crimes as required by Minnesota Statute.

The Minnesota Statute requires postsecondary institutions and local law enforcement agencies to enter into a MOU that delineates responsibilities and requires certain information sharing, in accordance with applicable state and federal privacy laws, about certain crimes.

Education and Prevention Programs

The University engages in comprehensive web-based educational programming which consists of primary prevention and awareness programs for all incoming students and new employees as well as ongoing awareness and prevention campaigns for students and faculty and staff that identify and define Sexual Misconduct and Stalking, identify and define Consent for Sexual Harassment, Sexual Abuse, and Relationship Violence, provide safe and positive options for bystander intervention, provide risk reduction information. Additional programming may be communicated through a variety of communication strategies including email blasts, notices on bulletin board, etc. These campaign programs will occur on a regular basis and no less frequently than once per year.

Responsibility for Compliance with Campus Security Act

The Director of Facilities has responsibility for:

Overseeing the supervision of campus security.

Providing timely warning to the University campus community of any occurrences of a serious or continuing threat to students and employees on campus.

Assigning primary responsibility to respond to and to take appropriate action on reports of criminal actions and other emergencies.

The Student Title IX Coordinator and the Employee Title IX Coordinator share responsibility for:

Preparing, publishing, and disseminating all required policy statements, operating procedures, and reports as required by law.

Supervising and overseeing the execution of all established policies and procedures.

Supervising and overseeing the gathering and reporting of all statistics as required by law.

Crime Alerts

Crime Alerts, also known as “timely warnings,” are used to inform the campus community of security issues and campus crimes that, in the judgment of the Director of Facilities or their designee, constitute an ongoing or continuing threat. Crime alerts may be distributed selectively, to an effected group or area of campus, or to the entire campus as circumstances warrant. Crime Alerts may be distributed via e-mail, posted in or near building entrances and/or posted on the University web site and through our RAVE alert system.

Notification of an Immediate Threat

If the President and CEO or his designee confirms that there is an emergency or dangerous situation that poses an immediate threat to the health or safety of some or all members of the University community, the members of the Preparedness and Response Team will collaborate to determine the content of the message and will use some or all of the systems described below to communicate the threat to the University community or to the appropriate segment of the community. If the threat is limited to a particular building or segment of the population the Preparedness and Response Team will, without delay and taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system, unless issuing a notification will, in the judgment of the first responders (including, but not limited to: Preparedness and Response Team and/or local police, fire and emergency medical services), compromise the efforts to assist a victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

In the event of a serious incident that poses an immediate threat to members of the Northwestern community, the University has various systems in place for communicating information quickly. Some or all of these methods of communication may be activated in the event of an immediate threat to the campus community. These methods of communication include network emails, emergency text messages through the NWHSU RAVE Alert, broadcast phone calls, 2 way radios and telephone calling trees.

Evacuation Procedures

Each building at NWHSU has a written emergency evacuation procedure. Floor plans indicating exits, fire extinguishers, and defibrillators accompany each of these procedures. The floor plans are kept on file in the Facilities Department.

In the event of a situation in which it is no longer safe to remain inside the building, the evacuation procedure below should be followed.

1. An evacuation will occur when the fire alarm sounds and/or notification is made by University Administration, or the Bloomington Police or Fire Departments.
2. Everyone should leave by the nearest marked exit and alert others to do the same. Evacuation routes are posted in each office and clinic area.
3. Disabled individuals should be assisted in exiting the building.
4. Elevators should not be used to evacuate the building.
5. Once outside the building, individuals should proceed to the designated assembly area if your department had identified a meeting area. If not, you may go the East or West side of the main campus building. Streets, fire lanes, hydrants, and walkways should be kept clear for emergency vehicles and personnel.

6. Employees should not return to the building, or leave the designated assembly area, until directed to do so by University officials.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders

The federal Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act, enacted on October 28, 2000, requires institutions of higher education to issue a statement advising the campus community where law enforcement agency information provided by a State concerning registered sex offenders may be obtained. It also requires sex offenders already required to register in a State to provide notice, as required under State law, of each institution of higher education in that State at which the person is employed, carries on a vocation, volunteers services or is a student.

In Minnesota, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Corrections. You can link to this information, by accessing State Department of Corrections website at

Other Definitions Related to the Title IX Resolution Process

G. Advisor. Any individual who provides the alleged Complainant or Respondent support. During all resolution proceedings, Complainants and Respondents are entitled to be accompanied by an advisor of their choice. During formal resolution hearings, the University will provide an advisor if a party does not have one.

- H. Complainant mean a person who is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, as defined by this Policy. The complainant who is alleged to have been subject to conduct that violates this Policy may not always be the person who reports under this Policy. At the time of filing a formal complaint, a Complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in the education program or activity of the University.
- I. Consent means words or overt actions by a person indicating a freely given present agreement to perform a particular sexual act with the actor. Consent does not mean the existence of a prior or current social relationship between the actor and the Complainant or that the Complainant failed to resist a particular sexual act. Instead, Consent means a freely given “yes,” not failure to resist, silence, or the absence of a “no.” Past consent does not imply future consent.

Consent can be withdrawn at any time.

A person who is mentally incapacitated or physically helpless cannot consent to a sexual act. Mentally incapacitated means a person under the influence of alcohol, a narcotic, anesthetic, or any other substance that was administered to that person without the person's agreement, or that results in an inability to give a reasoned consent to sexual contact or sexual penetration. With respect to incapacitation due to drugs or alcohol, incapacitation requires more than simply being under the influence of drugs or alcohol—a person is not incapacitated simply because they have used drugs or alcohol. Instead, facts surrounding the situation will be considered to determine (1) if the individual could understand the circumstances, (2) if the individual was able to communicate Consent (or lack thereof), and (3) whether a reasonable person in the Respondent’s position would have known that the individual was incapacitated.

Consent can only be given by someone of legal age—in Minnesota, the statutory age of Consent is 16 years old.

Consent cannot be obtained via threats, force, coercion, or other forms of intimidation.

Corroboration of the Complainant's testimony is not required to show lack of consent.

- J. Decision-maker. The decision-maker is the individual designated to determine in a formal resolution process whether the Respondent is responsible for a violation of this Policy. The decision-maker also determines what sanctions the University will impose on a Respondent who is determined to have violated the Policy.
- K. Employee, for the purposes of this Policy, means all non-student employees of the University, including faculty, staff, adjuncts, and administrators.
- L. Employee Title IX Coordinator. The Employee Title IX Coordinator, also the VP of Human Resources, is responsible for implementing and monitoring Title IX compliance on behalf of the University. This includes coordination of training, education, communications, and administration of the complaint procedures for the handling of suspected or alleged violations of this Policy. The Employee Title IX Coordinator’s responsibilities are focused on Title IX matters relating to Employees.
- M. Formal Complaint means a document filed by a Complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator alleging sexual harassment against a Respondent and requesting that the recipient investigate the allegation of sexual harassment. A formal complaint must contain the Complainant's or the Title IX Coordinator's physical or digital signature. A formal complaint may be filed with the Title IX Coordinator in person, by mail, or by electronic mail.

- N. Hearing. A hearing is a live proceeding in the presence of a decision-maker during which relevant questions, including cross-examination questions, may be asked of the Complainant, the Respondent, and witnesses. The hearing follows a thorough investigation of the case. After a hearing, the decision-maker reaches a determination about whether Respondent is responsible for a Policy violation.
- O. Investigator. Investigators are individuals assigned to investigate possible violations under this policy. An investigator may be a member of the University's Title IX team or may be an outside consultant.
- P. Preponderance of evidence. The standard of evidence used to determine responsibility under this Policy is the preponderance of evidence standard which means "more likely than not" that our Title IX policy was violated.
- Q. Proceeding. All activities related to a non-criminal resolution of a University disciplinary complaint, including, but not limited to, fact-finding investigations, formal or informal meetings, and hearings. "Proceeding" does not include communications and meetings between officials and Complainants concerning accommodations or protective measures to be provided to a Complainant.
- R. Report. A report is information provided to the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator, or to another University official who has the authority to institute corrective action on behalf of the University, that indicates that sexual harassment, as defined by this Policy, may have occurred.
- S. Respondent means a person who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct that could constitute sexual harassment.
- T. Sexual contact includes, but is not limited to, the non-consensual intentional touching of someone's intimate parts, including the touching of clothing covering someone's intimate parts and the touch with seminal fluid or sperm on a person or a person's clothing.
- U. Sexual exploitation is taking non-consensual sexual advantage of another person. For example, sexual exploitation includes taking non-consensual video and/or audio recordings, photographs, or images of an individual while that individual is engaged in intimate or sexual utterances, sounds, or activities; voyeurism; distributing intimate or sexual information about a person without his or her consent; or knowingly transmitting a sexually transmitted disease to another person. Sexual exploitation may be considered sexual harassment under this Policy.
- V. Student, for the purposes of this Policy, means all students at the University, except for full-time Employees of the University who are also taking classes at the University (for the purposes of this Policy, those individuals are considered Employees). The term "Student" otherwise includes all individuals taking classes at the University, including all degree and non-degree Students.
- W. Student Title IX Coordinator. The Student Title IX Coordinator is responsible for implementing and monitoring Title IX compliance on behalf of the University. This includes coordination of training, education, communications, and administration of the complaint procedures for the handling of suspected or alleged violations of this Policy. The Student Title IX Coordinator's responsibilities are focused on Title IX matters relating to students.

- X. Supportive measures means non-disciplinary, non-punitive individualized services offered as appropriate, as reasonably available, and without fee or charge to the Complainant or the Respondent before or after filing a of a formal complaint or where no formal complaint has been filed. Supportive measures are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University's educational program or activity without unreasonably burdening the other party, including measures designed to protect the safety of all parties or the University's educational environment or deter sexual harassment.
- Y. Third party, for the purposes of this Policy, includes certain third-party affiliates, including volunteers, vendors, visitors, and independent contractors.

- BB. Campus means any building or property owned, leased or controlled by the University within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the University and used by the University in direct support of, or in a manner related to, the University 's educational purposes, and property within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the University that is owned by the University but controlled by another person, is used by students, and supports University purposes (such as a food or other retail vendor).

HH. Risk reduction. Options designed to decrease perpetration and bystander inaction, and to increase empowerment for Complainants in order to promote safety and to help individuals and communities address conditions that facilitate violence.

IV. REPORTING INCIDENTS OF SEXUAL HARRASMENT, SEXUAL ASSAULT, DATING VIOLENCE, DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND STALKING UNDER THIS TITLE IX POLICY

A. Reporting Overview

The University strongly encourages reporting of sex discrimination, sexual harassment, and sexual violence in any form. Anyone who has observed or experienced sex discrimination, sexual harassment, or sexual violence in the context of University programs can report by contacting either the University Student Title IX Coordinator or the University Employee Title IX Coordinator in person by mail, by telephone, or by electronic mail, or by any other means that results in the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator receiving the report. A report may be made at any time.

In the case of a student Complainant, the reporter is encouraged to contact the Student Title IX Coordinator at (952) 887-1381 or through the contact information provided on the University website.

In the case of an employee Complainant, the reporter is encouraged to contact the Employee Title IX Coordinator at (952) 885-5437 or through the contact information provided on the University website.

Anyone who has observed or experienced sex discrimination, sexual harassment, or sexual violence in the context of University programs may also report on the University's Title IX Reporting Hotline. The University's hotline is hosted by a secure, independent provider, EthicsPoint, and reports are treated confidentially. Reporters may remain anonymous and the IP address of computers cannot be traced. Reports will be provided to the Vice President of Human Resources. It should be understood that response to a report and investigation may be hampered or be impracticable if the reporter cannot be identified and questioned about the incident and related facts. There are two ways to use the hotline:

- Online: <https://secure.ethicspoint.com/domain/media/en/gui/35060/index.html>
- Phone: toll-free, within the United States, Guam, Puerto Rico and Canada: 855-748- 5772.

Although confidentiality cannot be assured in all cases, all reports of sex discrimination, sexual harassment, and sexual violence will be handled with sensitivity to confidentiality issues, and information will only be communicated as appropriate to those with a need to know.

The University recognizes that the decision to report sexual violence to authorities, including the police, is the right of the Complainant. A Complainant has the right to report to the University, the police, neither, or both. If the Complainant chooses to report to the police, the University will assist the Complainant in that process.

In some cases, unless prohibited by law, an individual may pursue criminal action and a University internal complaint concurrently. In certain circumstances, the University is prohibited from waiting for a criminal case to conclude before proceeding in its own internal investigation.

It is important for Complainants to preserve any evidence resulting from sexual violence that could be needed for criminal prosecution. Complainants have the right to complete and prompt assistance of campus authorities, at the direction of law enforcement authorities, in obtaining, securing, and maintaining evidence. Campus security will also provide assistance in preserving materials considered relevant to the internal resolution process and, when requested by the police, provide assistance in obtaining, securing, and maintaining evidence needed for criminal prosecution.

The University also encourages Complainants of sexual harassment and sexual violence to seek immediate medical and emotional assistance, as applicable, including treatment for injuries and preventative treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Assistance is available by calling 911, the Bloomington Police (952) 563-4900, or Campus Safety Officer (952) 452-9124. Medical treatment, including rape kits, may help Complainants preserve evidence of sexual assault. University security staff responding to an incident of sexual violence will inform the Complainant of their options to notify law enforcement authorities, seek medical assistance, and the University's reporting process; and security staff will assist the Complainant with these contacts if the Complainant requests such assistance.

Note that the University may be limited its ability to take action again a third party.

B. Initial Response to a Report of Sexual Harassment Under this Policy

Upon receipt of a report of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator will promptly contact the Complainant to discuss the availability of supportive measures and to explain to the process for filing a formal complaint. Supportive measures are available to a Complainant with or without the filing of a formal complaint.

Supportive measures may include, but are not limited to:

- Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments,
- Modifications of work or class schedules
- Campus escort services
- Mutual restrictions on contact between Complainants and Respondents
- Changes in work or housing locations
- Leaves of absence
- Increased security and monitoring of certain areas of campus
- Other similar measures

Supportive measures will be designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University's education program or activity without unreasonably burdening the other party. The Student or Employee Title IX Coordinator will consider the Complainant's wishes with respect to supportive measures and will coordinate the implementation of supportive measures.

Supportive measures are also available to Respondents before or after the filing of a formal complaint.

The University may not impose any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not supportive measures against a Respondent absent the filing of a formal complaint and resolution of the complaint, as described in this Policy.

The University will maintain as confidential any supportive measures provided to the Complainant or Respondent, to the extent that maintaining confidentiality will not impair the University's ability to provide the supportive measures.

When applicable, the University will also notify the Complainant of their rights and the University's responsibilities regarding orders of protection, no contact orders, restraining orders, or similar lawful orders issued by a criminal, civil, or tribal court (see Resources section below).

C. Emergency Removal and Administrative Leave

Upon receiving a report of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, the University may conduct an individualized safety and risk analysis to determine whether a Respondent should be removed from the University's education program or activity on an emergency basis. In conducting the individualized safety and risk analysis, the University will determine whether there is an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual arising from the allegations that justifies removal.

If the University determines that removing a Respondent is justified, it will provide the Respondent with notice and an opportunity to challenge the decision immediately following the removal. The Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator should be notified of any challenge to the removal decision. The final decision regarding an emergency removal decision will be made as soon as practicable after the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator is notified of the challenge.

The emergency removal determination, including the specific parameters of the removal, will be made by a member of the Title IX team not otherwise involved in the case. A final decision about any challenge to the emergency removal determination will be made by the Vice President of Academic Affairs.

If the Respondent is a non-student employee, in non-emergency situations, the University may place the Respondent on administrative leave after a formal complaint is filed and during the pendency of a resolution process. In this case, the administrative leave determination, including the specific parameters of the administrative leave, will be made by a Human Resources staff member not otherwise involved in the case.

E. Employee Responsibility to Report Potential Violations of this Policy

All Employees (except University Counseling Office staff, who are designated as confidential resources) are expected to report any incident of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking directed at a student or employee that they become aware of. Employees should report incidents involving students to the Student Title IX Coordinator³ at (952) 887-1381. Employees should report incidents involving other employees to the Employee Title IX Coordinator at (952) 885-5437.

F. False Reports

The willful filing of a false report is a violation of University Policy. Allegations of false reporting will be addressed under the Student Code of Conduct if the alleged false reporting involves a student reporter. Allegations of false reporting will be addressed under the Employee Personal Conduct Policy if the alleged false reporting involves an employee reporter.

³ An Employee need not report if they are exempt from reporting requirements under applicable law.

V. RESOLUTION PROCESS FOR RESOLVING FORMAL COMPLAINTS

A. General Principles

1. Presumption of Non-Responsibility

Under this Policy, a Respondent is presumed not responsible for alleged conduct until a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of a formal resolution process.

2. Standard of Evidence

The standard of evidence used to determine responsibility under this Policy is the preponderance of evidence standard.

3. Burden of Proof

Throughout the process for resolving a formal complaint, the burden of proof and the burden of gathering sufficient evidence to reach a determination regarding responsibility rests on the University and not on the parties.

4. Use of Medical Records

The University may not access, disclose, consider, or otherwise use a party's privileged medical or counseling records during a resolution process unless the party provides voluntary, written consent for such use.

5. Advisors

Under this Policy, the Complainant and the Respondent are each entitled to have another person present (in a support role) during a University disciplinary proceeding and may be accompanied to any related meeting or proceeding by an advisor of their choice. The purpose of the advisor is to support the individual throughout the investigation and resolution process. The advisor may be, but is not required to be, an attorney.

Advisors may not participate in the meetings or proceedings, but may attend and observe, except that during a formal Title IX hearing, advisors will be responsible for conducting cross-examination of the other party or witnesses, as described below in section V(F)(4). The advisor's access to information is subject to the same limitations as those placed upon the Complainant and Respondent and is conditioned upon the advisor's agreement to maintain the confidentiality of certain information.

During a formal Title IX resolution process hearing, the University will provide an advisor to a Complainant or Respondent who does not select their own advisor.

6. No Restrictions on Parties' Speech

This Policy does not in any way restrict the right of any party to a resolution process to discuss the allegations or to gather and present evidence during the process.

7. Participation Expected for Non-Parties

To ensure the University can gather the information necessary to uphold University policies, each non-party faculty, staff, or student who is requested to participate in an investigation is required to fully cooperate with the investigator. Unless otherwise directed by the investigator, non-party faculty, students, and staff will be expected to limit their discussion of the matter under investigation to those who need to know the information for the purposes of assisting in the resolution of the complaint. Nothing in this paragraph is intended to limit or restrict a Complainant or Respondent from speaking about the allegations under investigation or contacting at any time the police or governmental agencies responsible for the enforcement of any applicable laws.

8. False evidence

Willfully submitting evidence that a party or witness knows to be false is a violation of University Policy. Allegations of submitting false evidence will be addressed under the Student Code of Conduct if the evidence was submitted by a student. Allegations of submitting false evidence will be addressed under the Employee Personal Conduct Policy if the evidence was submitted by an employee.

9. Confidentiality

Throughout a resolution process, the University will respect the confidentiality of the Complainant, the Respondent, and the witnesses as much as possible, consistent with the University's obligations to investigate, to take appropriate action, to publish recordkeeping, and to comply with any legal obligations.

The University will keep confidential the identity of any individual who has made a report or complaint of sex discrimination, including the identity of any individual who has made a report or filed a formal complaint of sexual harassment; any Complainant; any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of sex discrimination; any Respondent; and any witness, except as may be permitted by the Federal Educational Rights Privacy Act. This includes keeping confidential any investigation, hearing, or judicial proceeding conducted under this Policy.

10. Consolidation of Formal Complaints

The University may consolidate formal complaints of allegations of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking made under this Policy when the allegations arise out of the same facts and circumstances. This includes complaints against more than one Respondent; complaints made by more than one Complainant against one or more Respondents; and complaints made by one party against another party. If formal complaints are consolidated, the University may issue a single investigative report and determination of responsibility (as described below), although the determination of responsibility may be different with respect to each allegation, depending on the facts of the case.

11. Notice of Meetings

The University will provide any party whose participation is expected or invited written notice of the date, time, location, participants, and purpose of all hearings, investigative interviews, and other meetings, with sufficient time for the party to prepare to participate.

12. Bias and Conflict of Interest

The University will ensure that any individual designated as a Title IX Coordinator, investigator, decision-maker, appeals officer, or informal resolution facilitator under this Policy does not have a conflict of interest or bias against any Complainant or Respondent or against Complainants or Respondents generally.

If there is a conflict of interest with respect to any party affected by this Policy, appropriate accommodations will be made, such as, but not limited to, appointing or contracting with a consultant to conduct the investigation, or recusing the person from the process for whom a conflict or potential conflict of interest exists.

13. Training

The University will ensure that any individual serving as a Title IX Coordinator, investigator, decision-maker, appeals officer, or informal resolution facilitator under this Policy receives appropriate training, as required by law, including annual training on the issues related to domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking. As required by law, training also includes information about interacting with Complainants of sexual assault, including how to reduce the emotional distress resulting from the reporting, investigatory, and disciplinary process. All investigations under this Policy will be conducted by individuals who have been trained on how to conduct a prompt, fair, and impartial investigation; how to provide safety to individuals during an investigation; and how to promote accountability. All materials used to train Title IX Coordinators, investigators, decision-makers, appeals officers, and informal resolution facilitators will be posted on the University's website.

B. Initiating a Formal Complaint

All processes for resolving complaints of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking under this Policy begin with the filing of a formal complaint. A formal complaint can be any document that contains a Complainant's physical or digital signature, or otherwise indicates that the Complainant is the person filing the complaint, and that requests the University to investigate the allegations of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking. A formal complaint may be filed with the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator in person, by mail, by electronic mail, or by using the contact information provided for those University officials on the University website or elsewhere.

A formal complaint is required to begin either an informal or a formal resolution process (described below). Once a formal complaint is filed, the University has an obligation to investigate the allegations.

At the time a Complainant files a formal complaint, they must be participating in or attempting to participate in the University's education program or activities. If a Complainant's status at the University is unclear, determination of whether a Complainant is participating in or attempting to participate in the University's education program or activities will be made on a case-by-case basis by the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator.

Under some circumstances, the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator may sign the formal complaint to initiate an investigation under this Policy. This may occur when the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator determines that there is an ongoing threat to the safety of the University community that must be addressed through a formal complaint. This may occur when, for example, an incident involved violence or the use of weapon, the Respondent has been involved in a pattern of conduct that must be addressed, or there are egregious or multiple allegations against the same Respondent, but no individual Complainant wishes to or is eligible to file a formal complaint.

If the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator signs the formal complaint to initiate an investigation, they do not thereby become a Complainant or otherwise a party in the case.

C. Notice of Formal Complaint

When the University receives a formal complaint of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, as defined by this Policy, it will provide the following information, in writing, to all known parties:

- Notice of the University's resolution process;
- Notice of the allegations potentially constituting sexual harassment, including details about the identity of the parties involved in the incident, if known, the conduct allegedly constituting sexual harassment, and the date and location of the incident, if known;
- A statement that the Respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination of responsibility is made at the conclusion of the resolution process;
- Notice that each party may have an advisor of their choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney;
- Notice that the parties may inspect and review evidence used during the resolution process, as detailed in the Policy;
- Notice that the University's Code of Conduct prohibits knowingly making false statements or submitting false information during the process.

The notice of a formal complaint will be sent to the parties as soon as practicable but no more than 3 business days after the receipt of a formal complaint.

If, in the course of an investigation, the University decides to investigate allegations about the Complainant or the Respondent that were not included in the notice provided initially, the University will provide notice of the additional allegations to the known parties.

D. Choice of Procedures after a Formal Complaint is Filed

After a formal complaint is filed, two avenues are available for resolution of an allegation of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking under this Policy: informal resolution and formal resolution.

An informal resolution process is intended to facilitate a resolution of the conflict that is agreeable to all parties. It does not involve a full investigation of the complaint and does not result in a determination of whether a Respondent is responsible or not responsible for violating this Policy. Informal resolution is only available if all parties voluntarily consent in writing to the informal resolution process. During an informal resolution process, any party has the option to move the Complaint to the formal process at any time before the resolution is finalized. The University may not require a party to participate in an informal resolution process and may not offer an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student. The informal resolution process is described in more detail in Section V (G) (below).

A formal resolution process involves thorough investigation of the complaint, including an objective evaluation of all relevant evidence, and, in the case of a Title IX case, a live hearing, followed by a determination of whether the Respondent is responsible for violating this Policy. Following a determination of responsibility, the University may provide remedies, including sanctions for the Respondent, that are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University's education program or activity, and may also continue to provide supportive measures. The formal resolution process is described in more detail in Section V (F) (below).

Every attempt should be made to determine the option for resolution within 5 business days of the submission of the formal complaint.

E. Dismissal of a Formal Complaint

Under certain circumstances, the University is required to or has the discretion to dismiss a formal complaint. The University must dismiss the formal complaint, or a specific allegation in the complaint, for purposes of Title IX, if the conduct alleged in the formal complaint

- would not constitute sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking, as defined in this Policy;
- did not occur in the University's education program or activity; or
- did not occur against a person in the United States.

A dismissal on this basis does not preclude the University from taking action under another University Policy, or, in the case of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking that falls outside the jurisdiction of Title IX, addressing the conduct through the procedures set out in Section V(F)(5) of this Policy.

The University may dismiss a formal complaint or any allegation made in the complaint, if

- at any time during the investigation or hearing a Complainant notifies the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator in writing that the Complainant would like to withdraw the formal complaint or any allegations made in the complaint;
- the Respondent is no longer enrolled at or employed by the University; or
- specific circumstances prevent the University from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the formal complaint or the allegations in the complaint.

When the University dismisses a formal complaint, the Student Title IX Coordinator or the Employee Title IX Coordinator will promptly send written notice of the dismissal, including reasons for the dismissal, simultaneously to the parties. The parties will also be informed of other University procedures for resolving the complaint and of other resources that may be available to them. The Student or Employee Title IX Coordinator may also refer the matter to another, applicable, disciplinary procedure.

Note that any instance of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking that falls outside the jurisdiction of Title IX because it did not occur against a person in the United States or did not occur in the University's education program or activities, but which causes or threatens to cause a substantial and material disruption at the University, will be addressed through the resolution processes detailed in this Policy, except that Sections V(F)(3-4) will not apply. Instead, instances of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking that fall outside the jurisdiction of Title IX will be addressed according to the procedures set out in Section V(F)(5).

F. Formal Process for Resolving Complaints

1. Overview

A formal process for resolving complaints under this Policy involves an investigation of the allegations raised in the formal complaint, followed by a determination of whether the allegations are substantiated and the Respondent is responsible for a Policy violation. This process involves an objective evaluation of all relevant evidence, including inculpatory and exculpatory evidence. If the decision-maker determines that the allegations are substantiated and that the Respondent is responsible for a violation of this Policy, remedies will then be imposed that may include disciplinary sanctions and other actions. Supportive measures may also be provided for the Complainant.

Throughout the formal resolution process, Complainants and Respondents will be treated equitably. All provisions, rules, and practices applied throughout the process apply equally to both parties. Complainants and Respondents will have an equal opportunity to present witnesses, including fact and expert witnesses, and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence.

2. Time Frames

The University will make every effort to conclude a formal process for resolving a formal complaint under this Policy within a reasonably prompt time frame, generally within 120 to 150 calendar days. Occasionally, a process may be temporarily delayed or a time frame extended for good cause. Good cause may include, but is not limited to, absence of a party, a party's advisor, or a witness; concurrent law enforcement activity; or the need for language assistance or accommodation of disabilities. If the University anticipates that a resolution process will be delayed or a time frame extended, the Title IX Coordinator managing the case will provide written notice to the Complainant and Respondent of the delay or extension and the supporting reasons. Any party to the case may request an extension for good cause. The Title IX Coordinator managing the case will determine whether extensions are warranted for good cause.

3. Investigation of Cases that Fall within the Jurisdiction of Title IX

Investigation of a formal complaint that falls within the jurisdiction of Title IX will be conducted by a member of the University's Title IX team trained to conduct Title IX investigations or by an outside consultant trained to conduct Title IX investigations. The University will ensure that investigators are free of bias against individual Complainants and Respondents or against Complainants or Respondents in general.

The investigation may, as appropriate, consist of personal interviews with the Complainant, the Respondent, and other witnesses who may have knowledge of the alleged incident(s) or circumstances giving rise to the complaint. The investigation may also consist of other methods designed to gather information and documents deemed pertinent by the investigator. Parties may submit any evidence they wish to have considered in the investigation to the investigator. Parties may be accompanied by an advisor of their choice to all investigation meetings.

The investigation will not include questions or evidence that constitutes or seeks disclosure of information protected under a legally recognized privilege unless the person holding that privilege has waived it.

The investigation phase of the process, leading up to the inspection and review of evidence and sharing of the preliminary report (described below), will usually be completed in no more than 20 business days, but may be extended with written notice to the parties explaining the reason for the extension.

After completing an investigation, the investigator will create a preliminary investigative report that summarizes relevant evidence collected during the investigation. Before the investigator finalizes the investigative report, the parties will be given an opportunity to inspect and review all evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the formal complaint, including any evidence upon which the University does not intend to rely in reaching a determination regarding responsibility and any inculpatory or exculpatory evidence obtained from any source. To facilitate this review of evidence, the University will send to each party and the party's advisor, if any, the evidence subject to inspection and review and the preliminary investigative report in an electronic or a hard copy. The parties then have 10 business days to submit a written response, which the investigator will consider before finalizing the investigative report. After the 10-day response period, the University will share each party's written response, if any, with the other party. The parties will then have 3 business days to submit additional responses.

At the conclusion of the evidentiary review and response period, the investigator will finalize the investigation report within 5 business days, or, alternately, may provide the parties with written notice extending the investigation for up to an additional 5 business days and explaining the reason for the extension.

The University will then send the final investigative report to each party and the party's advisor at least 10 business days before the hearing that will determine whether Respondent is responsible for a Policy violation. If a party wishes to submit a written response to the investigative report, they must do so at least 24 hours before the hearing. The investigative report will also be provided to the decision-maker before the hearing is convened, as described below.

4. Hearing to Determine Responsibility in Cases that Fall within the Jurisdiction of Title IX

In cases that fall within the jurisdiction of Title IX, before a decision-maker determines whether alleged conduct constitutes a violation of this Policy, the University will conduct a live hearing. At the hearing, a decision-maker will hear evidence related to the allegations that supplements the investigative report. The decision-maker will then determine whether Respondent is responsible for a Policy violation. The decision-maker also determines sanctions if Respondent is found responsible for a Policy violation.

The decision-maker will be an individual chosen from the University's Title IX team or an outside consultant who has received appropriate training regarding Title IX decision-making.

In reaching a determination, the decision-maker will consider the evidence provided in the final investigative report and any materials provided with the report, in addition to testimonial evidence presented at the hearing that the decision-maker deems relevant. The decision-maker may consider, among other things, the facts and surrounding circumstances, the nature of the behavior, past incidents or past or continuing patterns of behavior, the relationship between the parties, and the context in which the alleged incidents occurred. Whether a particular action or incident constitutes a violation of this Policy requires a determination based on all the facts and surrounding circumstances, applying a preponderance of the evidence (more likely than not) standard. Credibility determinations will not be based on a person's status as a Complainant, Respondent, or witness. The decision-maker will determine the weight and relevance of evidence and may ask questions on their own initiative at the hearing.

Evidence about the Complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior is not relevant and will not be allowed at the hearing, in the form of questions or otherwise, unless it is offered to prove that someone other than the Respondent committed the conduct alleged by the Complainant, or it concerns specific incidents of Complainant's prior sexual behavior with the respect to the Respondent and is offered to prove consent.

The University will make all evidence gathered during the investigation available at the hearing to give each party the opportunity to refer to such evidence during the hearing. No new evidence may be introduced at the hearing.

Cross-examination of all parties and witnesses is permitted at the hearing, including all relevant questions and follow-up questions. This may include questions challenging credibility. Cross-examination will be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the party's advisor, not by a party personally. Only relevant cross-examination and other questions maybe asked of a party or witness. Before a Complainant, Respondent, or witness answers a cross-examination or other question, the decision-maker will first determine whether the question is relevant. The decision-maker will explain any decision to exclude a question as not relevant.

If a party does not have an advisor present at the hearing to conduct cross-examination on their behalf, the University will provide an advisor of the University's choice without charge to that party. The advisor may be, but is not required to be, an attorney. At the hearing, the advisor's role is limited to asking cross-examination questions. The advisor may not otherwise speak or participate in the hearing and must follow the hearing rules of decorum established by the University.

Any party or witness may choose not to offer evidence and/or answer questions at the hearing, either because they do not attend the hearing or because they attend but decline to participate in some or all questioning. In determining responsibility, the decision-maker may not draw any inference about responsibility based solely on a party's or witness's absence from the hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.

At the request of either party, the hearing will occur with the parties located in separate rooms, with technology enabling the decision-maker and parties to simultaneously see and hear the party or witness answering questions. Hearings may be conducted with the parties physically present in the same geographic location or, at the University's discretion, may be conducted virtually, with technology enabling participants simultaneously to see and hear each other.

The University will make an audio or audio/visual recording or transcript of a hearing and make it available to the parties for inspection and review after the conclusion of the hearing.

The University expects all parties, advisors, and witnesses to follow established rules of decorum during the hearing. Individuals who violate the established rules of decorum may be barred from the hearing by the decision-maker.

5. Investigation and Determination of Cases that Do Not Fall within the Jurisdiction of Title IX

Investigation of a formal complaint of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking that does not fall within the jurisdiction of Title IX will be conducted by a member of the University's Title IX team trained to conduct sexual misconduct investigations or by an outside consultant trained to conduct sexual misconduct investigations. The University will ensure that investigators are free of bias against individual Complainants and Respondents or against Complainants or Respondents in general.

The investigation may, as appropriate, consist of personal interviews with the Complainant, the Respondent, and other witnesses who may have knowledge of the alleged incident(s) or circumstances giving rise to the complaint. The investigation may also consist of other methods designed to gather information and documents deemed pertinent by the investigator. Parties may submit any evidence they wish to have considered in the investigation to the investigator. Parties may be accompanied by an advisor of their choice to all investigation meetings.

The investigation will not include questions or evidence that constitutes or seeks disclosure of information protected under a legally recognized privilege unless the person holding that privilege has waived it.

The investigation phase of the process, leading up to the inspection and review of evidence and sharing of the preliminary report (described below), will usually be completed in no more than 20 business days, but may be extended with written notice to the parties explaining the reason for the extension.

After completing the investigation, the investigator will create a preliminary investigative report that summarizes relevant evidence collected during the investigation. Before the investigator finalizes the investigative report, the parties will be given an opportunity to inspect and review all evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the formal complaint, including any evidence upon which the University does not intend to rely in reaching a determination regarding responsibility and any inculpatory or exculpatory evidence obtained from any source. To facilitate this review of evidence, the University will send to each party and the party's advisor, if any, the evidence subject to inspection and review and the preliminary investigative report in an electronic or a hard copy. The parties then have 10 business days to submit a written response, which the investigator will consider before finalizing the investigative report. After the 10-day response period, the University will share each party's written response, if any, with the other party. The parties will then have 3 business days to submit additional responses.

At the conclusion of the evidentiary review and response period, the investigator will finalize the investigative report within 5 business days, or, alternately, may provide the parties with written notice extending the investigation for up to an additional 5 business days and explaining the reason for the extension.

The University will then send the final investigative report and any attachments to the report to the decision-maker in the case. The decision-maker will be an individual chosen from the University's Title IX team or an outside consultant who has received appropriate training regarding Title IX decision-making.

The decision-maker will review the investigative report and all attachments and make a determination of whether a policy violation has occurred. The decision-maker also determines sanctions if Respondent is found responsible for a Policy violation.

In reaching a determination, the decision-maker will consider the evidence provided in the final investigative report and any materials provided with the report. The decision-maker may consider, among other things, the facts and surrounding circumstances, the nature of the behavior, past incidents or past or continuing patterns of behavior, the relationship between the parties, and the context in which the alleged incidents occurred.

Evidence about the Complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior is not relevant and will not be considered by the decision-maker, unless it is offered to prove that someone other than the Respondent committed the conduct alleged by the Complainant, or it concerns specific incidents of Complainant's prior sexual behavior with the respect to the Respondent and is offered to prove consent.

Whether a particular action or incident constitutes a violation of this Policy requires a determination based on all the facts and surrounding circumstances, applying a preponderance of the evidence (more likely than not) standard. Credibility determinations will not be based on a person's status as a Complainant, Respondent, or witness. The decision-maker will determine the weight and relevance of evidence.

6. Written Determination of Responsibility

In all cases, the decision-maker will issue a written determination of responsibility, applying the preponderance of evidence standard. The written determination will include

- Identification of the allegations potentially constituting a violation of this Policy;
- A description of the procedural steps taken from the receipt of the formal complaint through the determination, including any notification to the parties, interviews with the parties and witnesses, methods used to gather evidence, and hearings held;
- Findings of fact supporting the determination;
- Conclusions regarding the application of this Policy to the facts;
- A statement of, and rationale for, the result as to each allegation, including a determination regarding responsibility, a detailed description of any disciplinary sanctions the University will impose on the Respondent, and whether remedies designed to restore or preserve equal access to the recipient's education program or activity will to be provided by the University to the Complainant; and
- The University's procedures and permissible bases for the Complainant and Respondent to appeal.

The University will provide the written determination of responsibility to the parties simultaneously within 10 business days of the conclusion of the hearing.

If an appeal is filed, the determination of responsibility becomes final on the date the University provides the parties with the written determination of the appeal outcome. If an appeal is not filed, the determination of responsibility becomes final on the date on which an appeal would no longer be considered timely.

The Student or Employee Title IX Coordinator is responsible for effective implementation of any remedies provided in the notice of determination.

7. Appeals

Either party may appeal from a determination of responsibility or from the University's dismissal of a formal complaint or any allegations in a formal complaint. Grounds for appeals include

- Procedural irregularities that affected the outcome of the matter;
- New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination of responsibility or dismissal was made that could affect the outcome of the case; and
- The Title IX Coordinator, investigator, or decision-maker had a conflict of interest or bias for or against Complainants and Respondents generally or for or against the individual Complainant or

Respondent that affected the outcome of the case.

An appeal can be filed in writing with the Title IX Coordinator managing the case, within 5 business days of the receipt of the written Determination of Responsibility. This initial notice of an appeal should set forth the grounds for the appeal with a brief supporting explanation. The Title IX Coordinator will then notify the other party in writing that an appeal has been filed. Once all parties have been notified of the appeal, parties will have 10 business days to submit a written statement setting out the facts and arguments supporting or challenging the grounds for appeal.

The Title IX Coordinator managing the case will forward the parties' written submissions, along with other materials from the case necessary to decide the appeal, to the Title IX Appeal Officer, who will review the appeal and make a final determination. The Title IX Appeal Officer will issue a written determination describing the result of the appeal and the rationale for the result, and will provide a copy of the written decision simultaneously to both parties.

The Title IX Appeal Officer will complete a determination regarding the appeal within 10 business days of receipt of the parties' written submissions. The Title IX Appeal Officer will notify the Complainant and Respondent if the determination will take longer than 10 business days.

Appeals are not intended to be full re-investigations or re-hearings of complaints. In most cases, appeals are confined to a review of the written determination of responsibility and any supporting materials, and the appeal documents.

Possible remedies on appeal include re-investigation of the case, rehearing of the case, revision of sanctions, or dismissal of the case. Appropriate remedies on appeal are fact-specific and are determined on a case-by-case basis.

The Title IX Appeal Officer will be a member of the Title IX team who has not otherwise been involved in the case, a University staff member who has received appropriate training regarding Title IX decision-making, or an outside consultant who has received appropriate training regarding Title IX decision-making. The Title IX Appeal Officer will not be the staff member who served as the decision-maker in the initial determination of responsibility phase of the case, the investigator, or the Title IX Coordinator who managed the case. The Title IX Coordinator managing the case, in their discretion, will determine the Appeals Officer on a case-by-case basis.

8. Sanctions

If a Respondent is found responsible for a violation of this Policy in a formal resolution process, the University may impose any of the following sanctions, depending on the facts:

- No-contact directive
- Restriction of privileges
- Probation
- Written Warning
- Suspension
- Expulsion
- Termination
- Discontinuation of relationship or association (in the case of a Third Party)

A Complainant will be notified of sanctions imposed on the Respondent in the written determination of responsibility.

The University may also provide remedies designed to restore or preserve Complainant's equal access to the University's education program. Specific remedies provided to the Complainant will only be disclosed to the Respondent when necessary to effectuate the remedy.

The decision-maker in the case determines what sanctions the University will impose if the Respondent is determined to be responsible and determines any remedies provided to the Complainant.

G. Informal Process for Resolving Complaints

After a formal complaint is filed, and at any time before a determination of responsibility is reached in a formal process, either party may request that the complaint be resolved by an informal resolution process. In an informal resolution process, an Informal Resolution Designee will attempt to facilitate a resolution of the conflict that is agreeable to all parties. The Informal Resolution Designee will be a member of the Title IX Team who is not otherwise involved in the case and who has received appropriate training on resolving Title IX cases. The Title IX Coordinator managing the case, in their discretion, will determine the Informal Resolution Designee on a case-by-case basis.

Both parties must voluntarily consent in writing to participate in an informal resolution process. The University may not require a party to participate in an informal resolution process or to waive the right to an investigation and adjudication of a formal complaint. An informal resolution process may not be used to address a formal complaint that an employee sexually harassed a student.

An informal resolution process is usually completed within 30 calendar days from the time the parties agree in writing to participate in an informal resolution process. Note that the formal resolution process calendar pauses when an informal process commences. If the parties then later return to the formal resolution process, the formal resolution process calendar will restart from the time when the parties entered the informal process.

If the parties agree to participate in an informal resolution process, the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator will provide to them a written notice disclosing

- The allegations in the formal complaint;
- The requirements of the informal resolution process, including the fact that final resolution in an informal process precludes them from later resuming a formal resolution process;
- Their right to withdraw from the informal resolution process at any time before it is final and resume the formal resolution process;
- Information about records that will be maintained or could be shared about the informal resolution process.

The Complainant and Respondent each have the option to discontinue the informal process and request that the formal resolution process be resumed by notifying the Informal Resolution Designee in writing. The University also has the discretion to bypass or discontinue the informal process and move forward with a formal resolution process at any time. If at any point during the informal process, the Complainant, the Respondent, or the University wishes to cease the informal process and proceed instead through the formal process, the formal process described above will be invoked.

An informal resolution must be designed to adequately address the concerns of the Complainant, as well as the rights of the Respondent, and the overall intent of the University to stop, remedy, and prevent Policy violations. An informal process resolution may include a variety of responses or remedies, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Required attendance at educational programs
- Required assessment and/or counseling
- Restriction of Respondent's privileges
- Sanctions against the Respondent

If all parties to the formal complaint agree in writing to the terms and conditions of the informal resolution within 5 business days, the case will be resolved without additional process, including a formal resolution process, under this Policy. If all parties to the complaint do not agree in writing to the terms and conditions of the informal resolution within 5 business days, the complaint will move to the formal procedure for resolution.

If during the pendency of an informal resolution process, the formal complaint is referred to the formal resolution process, the time spent attempting to reach an informal resolution will not be counted as part of the 120-day time frame that applies to the resolution of formal complaints.

Records about informal resolution processes will be maintained by the Student Title IX Coordinator or Employee Title IX Coordinator and will only be shared with University employees who have a need to know. Records from an informal resolution process, including statements made by the parties during the process, will not be shared in a later formal resolution process.

VI. WAIVER OF STUDENT DRUG/ALCOHOL VIOLATIONS

The University strongly encourages students to report instances of sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence or stalking. As such, students who report such information—either witnesses or Complainants—will not be disciplined by the University for any violation of its drug and alcohol policies that arises in connection with the reported incident. The use of alcohol or drugs does not make the Complainant at fault for Sexual Violence.

VII. RETALIATION PROHIBITED

Retaliation is prohibited against any individual who, under this Policy, makes a report or files a complaint, or who testifies in, assists with, participates in or refuses to participate in an investigation, resolution proceeding, or hearing. The University will investigate and take appropriate action against any student or employee who retaliates against any person who makes a good-faith report or complaint; or who testifies in, assists with, participates in or refuses to participate in an investigation, resolution proceeding, or hearing. Retaliation includes, but is not limited to, intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination. Appropriate action may include disciplinary or corrective action, up to and including termination or expulsion.

In addition, neither the University, nor any officer, employee, or agent of the University may retaliate, intimidate, threaten, coerce, or otherwise discriminate against any individual for exercising their right to avail themselves of the University's resolution procedures.

Charging an individual with a code of conduct violation for making a materially false statement in bad faith in the course of a resolution proceeding does not constitute retaliation.

Retaliation allegations will be addressed under the University's Discrimination and Harassment Policy.

VIII. RECORD KEEPING

The University will maintain records of its response to all formal complaints addressed under this Policy for seven years. Records will document

- Each sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking investigation conducted by the University, including any determination regarding responsibility, any audio or audiovisual recording or transcript of a formal resolution process hearing, any disciplinary sanctions imposed on a Respondent, and any remedies provided to the Complainant;
- Any appeal and the result therefrom;
- Any informal resolution and the result therefrom; and
- All materials used to train Title IX Coordinators, investigators, decision-makers, appeals officers, and informal resolution designees.

The University will also maintain records about all reports of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking for seven years. Records maintained will include documentation about any actions taken, including the provision of supportive measures, in response to a report or formal complaint. If supportive measures are not provided in response to a report or formal complaint, the University will document the reasons for that action.

IX. UNIVERSITY REPORTING OBLIGATIONS

Under the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act ("Clery Act"), the University has a legal duty to track and publish information about certain types of Sexual Misconduct. The University will collect, prepare, publish, and distribute, through appropriate publications or mailings, to all current Students and Employees, and to any applicant for enrollment or employment upon request, an annual security report containing, among other things, information relating to the Campus crime statistics of the University and statistics concerning the occurrence on Campus, in or on non-campus buildings or property, and on public property, all criminal offenses reported to Campus security authorities related, among other things, to forcible or non-forcible sex offenses, dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. The University will not disclose the Complainant's name or other personally identifiable information in its report.

In addition to its reporting obligations under the Clery Act, under Minnesota Law, the University has a legal duty to track and report similar information about sexual assault on its website and to the Minnesota Office of Higher Education.

The University also must issue timely warnings to students and employees for certain types of incidents reported to them that pose a substantial threat of bodily harm or danger to members of the University community. The University will make every effort to ensure that a Complainant's name and other identifying information is not disclosed, while still providing enough information for community members to make safety decisions in light of the danger. Compliance with this Policy does not constitute a violation of section 444 of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. § 1232g), commonly known as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA).

X. COOPERATION WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT

The University will comply with law enforcement's request for cooperation and such cooperation may require the University to suspend temporarily the fact-finding aspect of a Title IX investigation while the law enforcement agency gathers evidence. The University will promptly resume its Title IX investigation as soon as notified by the law enforcement agency that it has completed the evidence gathering process, which typically takes three to ten calendar days, although the delay in the University's investigation could be longer in certain instances.

The University will implement appropriate interim steps during the law enforcement agency's investigation period to provide for the safety of the Complainant(s) and the campus community and the avoidance of retaliation.

When appropriate or legally obligated, the University may share investigative information with the law enforcement.

XI. ALTERNATIVE COMPLAINT PROCEDURES

These procedures do not deny the right of any individual to pursue other avenues of recourse which may include, but is not limited to, filing a charge with the United States Department of Education Office for Civil Rights (OCR).

Reports filed in this manner are counted and disclosed in the annual crime statistics for the institution. University Counseling Services are licensed counselors are not obligated to report the incidents of sexual harassment, since those individuals are viewed as confidential resources. Confidential reporting may limit the University's ability to investigate specific complaints and issue sanctions.

Drug Free Campus and Prevention Program

The collective vision at Northwestern Health Sciences University is to develop an environment that fosters exemplary, innovative and ethically based educational programs in natural health care. Drug and alcohol use and abuse can interfere with a student's ability to pursue an education and the University's ability to carry out its mission. Alcohol and drug abuse affect the health, safety and well-being of all students and staff.

In compliance with the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989, Northwestern has implemented the following policies to prevent the illicit use of drugs and the abuse of alcohol by students and employees.

The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, or use of any controlled substance or illegal drug is prohibited on campus, including all University premises where the activities of the University are conducted, while on University business or as part of any of the University's programs or activities. In addition, the University also prohibits the unauthorized possession, use or distribution of alcohol on campus, while on University business or as part of any of the University's programs or activities. At certain sanctioned University functions, alcoholic beverages may be allowed, but will be monitored.

Storing any unauthorized controlled substances, drug paraphernalia or alcohol in a locker, desk, University owned vehicle or other place on University owned or occupied premises is prohibited. It is the responsibility of employees and students to know and comply with this policy. To facilitate this, the campus alcohol and drug policy is clearly laid out and distributed to all students and employees as follows:

1. The University's drug and alcohol policy is available in the Student Handbook and the Personnel Policy and Procedure Manual, which are made available to students and employees. Information on Northwestern's drug and alcohol policies are distributed to all new and current students, staff and faculty through various University departments. At orientation sessions for new students, staff, and faculty, information about the University's drug and alcohol policies are provided.
2. Each year, copies of this policy are sent to all students and employees via email. Those who violate this drug and alcohol use policy will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. Employees and students who violate this policy may be referred for criminal prosecution. The use of controlled substances/illegal drugs or narcotics and the service of or selling of alcohol to those less than 21 years of age is against the law. Many states will not grant license privileges to graduates convicted of a federal offense.

3. This alcohol and drug policy applies to all functions on the Northwestern Health Sciences University campus as well as all university-sponsored events off campus. This policy is subject to the jurisdiction of the University Cabinet. The University conducts a biennial review of this policy to determine the effectiveness of this policy and to ensure that disciplinary sanctions for violating student conduct are enforced consistently.

A full list of policies can be found in the Student Handbook.

For Your Information

This policy has been developed in compliance with the National Drug Control Strategy. This measure, issued in September 1989, proposed that Congress pass legislation requiring schools, colleges and universities to implement and enforce firm drug prevention and education programs as a condition of eligibility to receive federal financial assistance. On December 12, 1989, the President signed the Drug-Free School and Communities Act Amendments of 1989 which require that institutions of higher education implement a program to prevent the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by its students and employees on school premises or as part of any of its activities.

Please refer to state and federal statutes for further sanctions related to drug and alcohol use. These statutes can be found at:

Drugs and Alcohol Health Risk

In compliance with the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989 (Public Law 101-226) the University has adopted a program to prevent the unlawful possession, use and distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by members of the University community. In compliance with this requirement, information below describes the various health risks associated with alcohol abuse and the use of specific types of drugs. It is not intended to be an exhaustive or complete statement of all the possible health consequences of substance abuse. A copy of "A Matter of Facts: Information about alcohol and other drugs" is available in the Office of Student Affairs Office.

Alcohol Use and Abuse

Alcohol is the most widely used and abused drug in the United States. Alcohol acts as a central nervous system depressant. Alcohol intake causes a number of marked changes in behavior. Even low doses significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that the driver will be involved in an accident.

Low to moderate doses of alcohol also increase the incidence of a variety of aggressive acts. Moderate to high doses of alcohol cause marked impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Very high doses cause respiratory depression and death.

If combined with other depressants of the central nervous system, much lower doses of alcohol can be fatal. Repeated use of alcohol can lead to dependence. In addition, research indicates that children of alcoholic parents are at a greater risk of developing alcohol dependency later in life.

Sudden cessation of alcohol intake is likely to produce withdrawal symptoms, including severe anxiety, tremors, hallucinations and convulsions. Alcohol withdrawal can be life threatening. Long-term consumption of large quantities of alcohol, particularly when combined with poor nutrition, can also lead to permanent damage to vital organs, such as the brain and liver.

Mothers who consume alcohol during pregnancy may give birth to infants with fetal alcohol spectrum disorders. Because every woman metabolizes alcohol differently, even the smallest amount of alcohol could harm a developing baby. Infants with fetal alcohol spectrum disorders have irreversible physical abnormalities and mental retardation. Alcohol can affect the baby during every trimester of pregnancy.

Drinking alcohol up to the 13th week of pregnancy can cause:

- severe brain damage
- problems with the heart, liver and kidneys
- miscarriage
- facial malformations

Drinking alcohol between weeks 14 and 26 can cause:

- brain damage
- miscarriage
- damaged muscles, skin, teeth, glands and bones

Drinking alcohol between weeks 27 and 40 can cause:

- brain and lung damage
- low birth weight
- early labor and delivery

Amphetamines/Other stimulants

Amphetamines (speed, uppers), methamphetamines and other stimulants can cause increased heart and respiratory rate, elevated blood pressure, dilated pupils and decreased appetite. In addition, users may experience sweating, headache, bad breath, blurred vision, dizziness, sleeplessness, and anxiety. Extremely high doses can cause a rapid or irregular heartbeat, tremors, loss of coordination, and even physical collapse. An amphetamine injection causes a sudden increase in blood pressure that can result in stroke, very high fever or heart failure.

In addition to the physical effects listed above, stimulant users report feeling restless, anxious and moody. People who use large amounts of amphetamines over a long period of time can develop an amphetamine psychosis that includes hallucinations, delusions and paranoia.

Barbiturates/Other depressants

Barbiturates (downers), methaqualone (Quaaludes), tranquilizers (valium and rohypnol) and other depressants have many of the same effects as alcohol. Small or prescribed doses can produce calmness and relaxed muscles, but larger doses can cause slurred speech, staggering and altered perception. Very large doses can cause respiratory depression, coma and death. The combination of depressants and alcohol can multiply the effects of the drugs, thereby multiplying the risks. Use can also cause liver damage, convulsions, and coma.

Cannabis / Marijuana

The physical effects of marijuana include a substantial increase in heart rate, bloodshot eyes, a dry mouth and throat, and increased appetite. It may impair short-term memory and comprehension, alter sense of time and reduce ability to perform tasks requiring concentration and coordination, such as driving a car. Research also shows that motivation and cognition may be altered, making the acquisition of new information difficult. When marijuana contains 2 percent THC, it can cause severe psychological damage, including paranoia and psychosis. Since the early 1980's, most marijuana has contained from 4 to 6 percent THC - two or three times the amount capable of causing serious damage.

Because users often inhale the unfiltered smoke deeply and then hold it in their lungs as long as possible, marijuana is damaging to the lungs and pulmonary system. Marijuana smoke contains more cancer causing agents than tobacco smoke. Long-term users of marijuana may develop psychological dependence and require more of the drug to get the same effect.

Cocaine / Crack

Cocaine stimulates the central nervous system. Its immediate effects include dilated pupils and elevated blood pressure, increased heart and respiratory rate, and elevated body temperature. Injecting cocaine with contaminated equipment can cause AIDS, hepatitis and other diseases. Crack or freebase rock is a purified form of cocaine that is smoked. Smoking crack provides intensified cocaine effects because higher doses of the drug reach the brain very quickly. Crack is far more addictive than heroin or barbiturates. Continued use can produce violent behavior and psychotic states similar to schizophrenia.

Health risks include malnutrition, respiratory problems, addiction, stroke, liver problems, seizures, heart and respiratory failure, psychosis, coma, convulsions, and sexual dysfunction. Cocaine in any form, but particularly in the purified form known as crack, can cause sudden death from cardiac arrest or respiratory failure.

Hallucinogens phencyclidine (PCP, angel dust), mescaline, peyote, LSD, and mushrooms interfere with the part of the brain that controls the intellect and keeps instincts in check. Hallucinogens are psychedelic, mind-altering drugs that affect a person's perceptions, feelings, thinking, and self-awareness. Use causes increased body temperature, heart rate and blood pressure, sweating, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, tremors, confusion, paranoia, and sometimes violence.

Because PCP blocks pain receptors, violent PCP episodes may result in self-inflicted injuries. Large doses may produce convulsions and coma, as well as heart and lung failure. Psychological reactions may include panic, confusion, suspicion, anxiety and loss of control. Delayed effects or flashbacks can occur even after use has ceased.

Inhalants

The immediate negative effects of inhalants (laughing gas, whippets) include nausea, sneezing, coughing, nosebleeds, fatigue, and lack of coordination and loss of appetite. Solvents and aerosol sprays also decrease heart and respiratory rates and impair judgment. Amyl and butyl nitrite cause rapid pulse, headaches and involuntary passing of urine and feces. Long-term use may result in hepatitis or brain damage. Deeply inhaling the vapors or using large amounts over a short period of time may result in disorientation, violent behavior, unconsciousness, or death. High concentrations of inhalants can cause suffocation by displacing the oxygen in the lungs or by depressing the central nervous system to the point that breathing stops.

MDMA / Ecstasy

MDMA is a stimulant with psychedelic properties. Short-term effects include feelings of mental stimulation, emotional warmth, enhanced sensory perception, and increased physical energy. Adverse health effects can include nausea, chills, sweating, teeth clenching, muscle cramping, and blurred vision. Chronic use of MDMA may lead to changes in brain function.

Narcotics

Narcotics such as opium, Demerol, heroin, codeine and morphine initially produce a feeling of euphoria that often is followed by drowsiness, nausea and vomiting. Users also may experience constricted pupils, watery eyes and itching. An overdose may produce slow and shallow breathing, clammy skin, convulsions, coma and possible death. Narcotics are extremely addictive.

Steroids may contribute to increases in body weight and muscular strength. Steroids are injected directly into the muscle or taken orally. Steroids are illegal to possess without a prescription from a licensed physician. They are prescribed for specific medical conditions. Possible signs of use/abuse: sudden increase in muscle and weight; increase in aggression and combativeness; violence; hallucinations; depression; jaundice; purple or red spots on body, inside mouth, or nose; swelling of feet or lower legs; tremors; and bad breath. Health risks include, but are not limited to high blood pressure; liver and kidney damage; heart disease; increased risk of injury to ligaments and tendons; bowel and urinary problems; gallstones and kidney stones; and liver cancer.

Additional information about the health risks of drug use and abuse can be accessed through the National Institute on Drug Abuse.
